Retinal degeneration and other retinal diseases are major sources of vision loss. This symposium will focus on approaches to track vision loss during progressive retinal disease, gene defects that cause retinitis pigmentosa, effects of physical exercise on progression of retinal disease, and potential therapy for ocular trauma-induced vision loss.